TEXAS CITY BELIEVED OUT OF DANGER

CIO BELIEVES HOUSE LABOR BILL ILLEGAL

Calls Measure Passed Yesterday "Probably Unconstitutional;" To Fight in Court.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 18—The CIO said today the labor bill approved by the house is "probably unconstitutional," and unions will attack it in the courts if it becomes law.

Nathan Cowan, CIO legislative director, said in a statement:

"The Hartley bill is an ill-conceived, badly-constructed and probably unconstitutional measure. We will oppose it at every step of the legislative process and in the courts."

Cowan said the bill does nothing to improve living standards or to "curb the super-power of strangling corporate monopolies." He concluded:

"When the jerry-built hysteria against labor collapses of its own weight, we expect that this bill and others like it will be consigned to the legislative rubbish heap where they truly belong."

Debate Set Wednesday

The senate expects to start debate next Wednesday on its own bill which lacks many of the union curbs the house voted. Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the senate labor committee hopes to add some on the floor.

The house passed its bill late yesterday by a lop-sided roll call vote of 308 to 107. A powerful coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats pushed it through, after rejecting all amendments to tone it down.

While this was happening, the senate committee voted 11 to 2 approval of its legislation. Senators Pepper (D-Fla) and Murray (D-Mont) dissented after playing a major role in a rewrite job which stripped the bill of several proposed curbs on union activities.

Somewhat Alike

In some respects the house bill and the senate committee measure are alike. For example, both would:

Ban the closed shop, which compels the boss to hire only union members.

Permit the more common union shop where a majority of workers vote for it, and—in the case of the house bill—where employers want it. Under union shop agreements, workers must join the union shortly after they are hired.

Authorize court injunctions to stop or block "national paralysis" strikes, such as a coal or telephone strike. The injunctions would stay in effect during compulsory mediation.

Set up a new federal mediation agency, independent of the labor department.

Make unions liable for unfair labor practices. Employers already are.

Parallel Stops Short

There the parallel on major provisions stops short. The house bill, but not the senate's, would:

1. Outlaw jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. Jurisdictional strikes usually stem from disputes between unions as to which should do given work. A secondary boycott is a refusal by

Smith Casts Vote Against Bill

Frederick C. Smith of Marion, congressman from the Eighth district, was the only Republican congressman in Ohio voting against the labor bill yesterday.

According to news dispatches from Washington Congressman Smith explained his negative vote by saying he felt the Wagner act should not be merely amended but "repealed outright." His vote came as a surprise, even to members of the Ohio delegation.

Vote of Ohio congressmen as reported by The Associated Press was as follows:

REPUBLICANS FOR (18)—George H. Bender and Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland, Charles E. Eaton and William E. Hess of Cincinnati, Walter E. Brehm of Logan, Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, Raymond H. Burke of Hamilton, Henderson Carson of Canton, Cliff Clevenger of Bryan, P. W. Griffiths of Marietta, Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, Robert Jones of Lima, Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, Edward O. McCowen of Wheelersburg, J. Harry McGregor of West Lafayette, Homer Ramey of Toledo, John M. Vorys of Columbus and Alvin Weichel of Sandusky.

British Blow Up Helgoland, German Island Naval Base

By The Associated Press

CUXHAVEN, Germany, April 18—British demolitions blew up today the island base of Helgoland, German Gibraltar of the North sea.

Watchers in this seaport 38 miles across the water from the former German naval base saw a towering grey column of smoke rise over Helgoland at 1:01 p. m. (6:01 a. m. Marion time.) Two minutes later three dull thumping explosions were heard, sounding like blasts in a quarry. The British had announced months ago their intentio to destroy the naval stronghold.

Crowds along the mainland strand soon saw heavy smoke billow higher and higher until it reached a peak of several hundred yards. Sailors climbed to the most tops of their vessels to get a better view.

Burgomaster Karl Olvers said the destruction had caused sorrow and indignation among the Germans of this city.

Helgoland, which means "Holy Land," covers only about a fifth square mile of territory off the mouths of the Elbe and Weser rivers. The British seized the island from Denmark in 1807 and ceded it to Germany in 1890 in return for German recognition of British sovereignty in Zanzibar. The Germans fashioned it into one of the strongest naval bases in the world and in August of 1914, one of the great naval battles of history was fought nearby, the result of which was that the German grand fleet did not afterwards venture beyond home waters.

YOUTH ELUDES POLICE LINES

Central Ohio Officers Comb Territory for Auto Thief, Abductor.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 18 — Weaving in and out of an elaborate central Ohio police dragnet, a slender, 22-year-old youth remained at least a step ahead of the law early today after allegedly stealing five automobiles within 12 hours and abducting a Columbus housewife at gunpoint.

The housewife, Mrs. Nell Sweeney, escaped unharmed after a 10-mile ride on the outskirts of the city.

Deputies quoted her as saying that the man who forced her into a stolen automobile at pistol-point claimed:

"I just escaped from Ohio penitentiary and I need all the money you got."

Gives $10 To Bandit

She gave him $10 which she was carrying on a trip to a grocery store, deputies reported, and later escaped by jumping from the automobile at a stop-sign in northeastern Columbus.

That the man was not an escaped from either the Ohio penitentiary or the London prison farm seemed definite. Warden Frank Henderson's office said all inmates were accounted for and no alarm was turned out by the prison farm.

Highway patrolmen said here that five auto thefts occurring between 3:30 p. m. yesterday and 1 a. m. today "tied in strongly" with the elusive suspect they hoped to snare in one of many road blocks established by deputies of Franklin and Delaware counties. A statewide alert also was broadcast.

Second Stolen at Delaware

The highway patrol reported the first automobile was taken from in front of a Columbus inn and wrecked between Sunbury and Delaware. The second car, they said, was stolen at Delaware and abandoned at Sunbury as the thief apparently doubled back; and the third, stolen from Sunbury was found on a crossroads near Columbus where a fourth was stolen. The fourth car was abandoned in Columbus and a fifth one taken and found in a ditch near the Valley Dale night club.

Mrs. Sweeney described the man as about 22, approximately five feet, 10 inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds.

A hitch-hiker picked up near Delaware was left sitting in a stolen car at Sunbury when the driver abandoned him, saying he was going to a drugstore and not returning.

Four Indicted In Newark Deaths

3 Face Manslaughter Charge; Fourth Reindicted for Murder.

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., April 18—Two policemen accused of beating a man they arrested were charged with manslaughter today in indictments handed up by the Licking county grand jury.

They are Patrolman Carl Koblens,54, and Bryan Woolard, 49, who have been at liberty on $1,000 bond each.

The officers are charged with killing Frank Merryman, 38-year-old father of four children, who died April 8. Merryman's widow Imogene, 38, declared the policemen beat her husband about the dead after ejecting him from a dance hall.

The policemen denied they beat Merryman.

Mrs. Merryman originally charged them with first-degree murder, but the charge was reduced to maslaughter by Municipal Judge Harvey J. Alexander when he referred the case to the grand jury.

Farm Hand Charged

A farm hand once exonerated of killing Col. Clell Perkins, 55, former chief veterinarian in the European theater of operations, was indicted also on a charge of manslaughter.

The man, Jesse Sweeney, 50, contended he shot Perkins twice in self-defense after the officer attacked him with a steel ruler in an argument over planting, Nov 23.

He was charged originally with first degree murder, but the grand jury in session late last year ignored the case. Sweeney then was released from jail.

Today's indictment was handed up by a new grand jury.

Veteran Reindicted

Ralph David Hoffer, a 23-year-old dishonorably discharged war veteran, was re-indicted on a charge of first-degree murder resulting from the death of Thelma Harger Anderson, 17.

Prosecutor Brandt S. Hervey explained there was some question about the validity of the original indictment alleging first degree murder.

HALF MINING TOWNS "BELOW STANDARD"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 18—A report by the federal coal mines administration said today public health and sanitation are below standard in more than half of the soft-coal mining communities it has covered in a survey.

Conditions in some places, it said, "are a disgrace to the industry and to the nation."

The report laid the blame on "management, labor and the families themselves."

The 340-page findings came from five Navy survey teams which visited 260 mines in 22 coal-producing states during four months last year in accordance with an agreement between the government and United Mine Workers.

The research men said they found health conditions ranging from excellent to "very poor."

In a foreword to the findings, Rear Adm. Joel T. Boone, director of the survey, said it disputes "any assertions which may have been made that inferior standards are general in the coal industry."

"Definitely low standards of health are readily apparent in certain places, but not in all areas where coal is mined," the navy officer said.

There are more than 2,500 soft coal mines in the country.

The report recommended adoption of a broad system of prepaid medical care for all miners and their dependents and "modifications in principles and operation," saying "appropriate checks must be included to prevent abuses by over-indulgent physicians and unnecessary and excessive demands by patients."

Bulk of Ford's Estate Left to Ford Foundation

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 18—The bulk of the huge estate of Henry Ford will go to the family-organized Ford Foundation.

This was disclosed today by Ford family counsel as the will was filed for probate. Left undisclosed was the actual amount of the estate and the probable inheritance and estate taxes to be paid.

The estate of the famed industrialist who died April 7 of a cerebral hemorrhage has been variously estimated at from $200,000,000 to $500,000,000.

The will, dated Feb. 3, 1936, left all the voting stock held by the elder Ford in the big Ford Motor Co. in five equal shares to his son, Edsel B. Ford, and his four grandchildren, with the share left to Edsel to go to the grandchildren following Edsel's death.

Edsel Ford died in May, 1943.

Authorizes Sale

In turning all the non-voting stock, representing the bulk of the estate over to the Foundation Ford devised:

"To this Foundation I give and bequeath all of my shares of stock in the Ford Motor Co., which are non-voting shares known as class A stock, save such as it may be necessary to sell to pay the obligations of my estate, the Foundation to have full and unqualified title, without limitation, to such shares, with all the incidents thereto, including the right to expend either the principal or the income therefrom for the purposes of such corporation."

Ford added that all of his real estate, other than the family home, "Fairlane," where he died April 7, should go to the Ford Motor Co., under the same stipulations as were made in the bequests to the Ford Foundation.

Widow Gets Home

His widow, Clara B. Ford, for whom he said "I have heretofore provided generously," retains Fairlane, and everything used in connection with it, "plus any other article or articles of a personal nature, which she may wish to retain because of their sentimental value."

Mrs. Clara Ford is named executrix of the will to replace Edsel Ford, in a codicil signed after the latter's death.

No other specific requests were listed in the will.

To the document was appended the following statement of Mrs. Clara B. Ford:

"I Clara Ford, wife of Henry Ford, testator in the foregoing will, do hereby acknowledge that full provision has been made for me by said testator during his lifetime, and I have agreed with him, in consideration of the provisions made therein, and hereby consent and agree to accept provisions made in the foregoing will in lieu of dower in his estate and in lieu of any and all other rights to which I might by law be otherwise entitled."

Sees Heavy Taxes

"I realize that my estate may be subject to heavy death duties and taxes, both by the federal and state governments and other governments, which may have tax jurisdiction over my properties. I desire and hereby direct that my executor shall as far as possible arrange that my specific bequests made herein to my wife, Clar J. (Sic) Ford, and my specific bequests of my voting shares in the Ford Motor Co. known as class 'B' stock, shall be given to the legatees intact and without diminution.

"If for the purpose of paying obligations of my estate it shall be necessary to sell any part of it, it is my desire and will that my executor shall have free discretion to sell, or borrow on the security of, or dispose of as in his judgment he may deem proper, all other property for the purpose of meeting such obligations."

Kenton Resident's Kin Safe in Texas, Home Demolished

Special to The Star

KENTON, April 18—Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, of Kenton, received a telephone call early Thursday from her sister Mrs. Jewell Baker of Texas City, Tex., informing her that she and her family had escaped injury.

Mrs. Baker told her sister that she and her husband were working at a chemical plant when the blast occurred and that they rushed by auto to the school attended by their two sons aged 14 and 15. They found the boys and drove past their home four blocks from the Monsanto Chemical plant and found it demolished.

Mrs. Baker said that a piece of ship's plate was imbedded in a section of the wrecked home.

The family immediately left the city following the first two blasts.

"CRISIS PAST," SAYS CHIEF AS FIRES RAGE ON

Refinery Blazes but Police Take Optimistic View; Toll Still at 650.

By The Associated Press

TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 18—Flames roared on for the third day on the industrial edge of this explosion-smashed gulf port today, but Police Chief W. L. Laddis said that the crisis which had gripped the city since Wednesday morning was past.

Estimates of deaths still ranged up to 650 and injuries around 3,000 persons. Property damage estimates ran from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The major conflagration today was at the vast Humble Oil company's storage tank farm at the south of the city. Apprehensive residents still watched the boiling oil fires, but Laddis asserted:

"I believe that all danger is gone."

Five or six storage tanks of approximately 55,000 gallons capacity had exploded and burned since 4 p. m. yesterday. Five other major blast had rocked the city at intervals since 9:12 a. m. Wednesday.

The burning nitrate-laden French freighter Grandcamp exploded Wednesday morning to set off another blast at the huge Monsanto Chemical plant two minutes later. Chains of fire swept through the city in an aftermath.

Burn Selves Out

For the most part, fires were left to burn themselves out, while rescue workers hunted through huge piles of twisted wreckage for the estimated hundreds of persons believed to have been buried.

Twisted hunks of steel and other debris rained down on the industrial section of the city early yesterday when a second nitrate-laden ship, the High Flyer, exploded, sinking a third, the Wilson B. Keene.

A "state of emergency" ruled the city as Gov. Beauford H. Jester issued a proclamation which also placed all law enforcement groups under the direction of Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas department of public safety.

Hundreds of persons who had fled in terror Wednesday slipped back into town yesterday, to stand before improvised morgues in mute hope of finding relatives and friends, to stare at ruined homes and stores.

Danger Believed Removed

Two tanks of propane, a petroleum gas, which had earlier been believed to have been in danger of exploding, apparently had been rendered harmless by the removal of their caps, Laddis said he had learned from "reliable sources" that the caps had been removed after the original harbor blast.

John H. Hill said that the Humble Oil Company had abandoned hope of saving any portion of the storage tank farm.

Rescue workers evacuated the explosion area late yesterday and were issued gas masks against the possible spread of poisonous fumes from further explosions.

Two hundred and seventy-one bodies had been counted late last night and 194 had been identified.

Fire Captain J. B. Ruby of Houston estimated that anywhere from 75 to 100 bodies remained in the Monsanto plant alone.

Texas City One of World's Best Guarded

By The Associated Press

Texas City probably was the most heavily guarded city in the world last night. One fourth of the persons there were law enforcement officers.

State and national guardsmen, county and city officers, policemen from Houston, Galveston and other areas, numbered about 500. They were stationed everywhere and patrolled endlessly.

Only an estimated 1,500 Texas City residents of the town's total population before explosions wrecked the community were at home.

Boyle Calls Texas City Preview of Atom Bomb

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 13—A series of ship and oil storage tank explosions here—the worst man made disaster in Texas history — has given America a first full peace time test of the blast that would follow the drop ping of an atom bomb in this country.

Hal Boyle

No wartime victims of the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki escaped as many of the accidental explosions of two ammonium nitrate vessels in this small gulf coast oil port to the devastation intentionally brought by American bombers less than two years ago against the Japanese enemy.

One of the most heartening results of this unforeseen catastrophe has been the fortitude with which the population has rallied to cope with the heavy problems it produced.

It is no stretch of the imagination to compare the destruction brought here to the havoc created by one or more atom bombs.

All Over in 24 Hours

The damage of the atom bombs at Hiroshima and Nagasaki was completed within 24 hours of the initial flash blast that sent the tender-ship Japanese cities aflame.

Today more than 48 hours after the French ship Grandcamp exploded with blast power, great fires are still ravaging the multi-million dollar oil storage tank farm that makes up the wealth of Texas City. Its sprawling factory residential section is still far from safe from the burning, wind-borne flames and sparks.

No one can yet say how much the eventual cost may be or how many hundreds of lives have already been lost.

Yet there has been no panic and almost no looting. Texas City and neighboring towns and cities have worked with unceasing discipline to maintain order and to confine the area of devastation.

Within a few minutes after the first explosion residents were making preparations against their scattered workplaces. Within a few hours enterprising merchants were systematically putting price tags into their undamaged stock reserves.

Requests of civil officials for residents to remain outside the city until the danger is past have met with universal obedience. Thousands of families, including many who lost members missing in the explosion, come to stay in their homes and work without pay to help to restore the residential wreckage in the industrial area.

Surrounding communities have pitched in with everything they could spare in the pioneer tradition of helping the other fellow in trouble. Efficient disaster squads, organized by local citizens, have helped limit the area of devastation.

No Tempers Lost

This has all been done without loss of temper or extravagant appeals to a sense of civic duty where needs no stimulation.

The Texas City waterfront has been almost completely destroyed. Oil and gasoline fires still raging threaten storage tank reserves. No score is yet completely safe.

Yet every hour more men return and the work of recovering the dead and checking the two-day-old fires goes steadily on. There is no fear or nakedness about it. Texas City is merely measuring up to the burden of its unforeseen disaster.

The offhand method in which this is being done may be peculiarly Texan, but the spirit is surely typical of all America. It is an encouraging indication that if ever this country is subjected to large scale attack by new, modern mass weapons of destruction, the courage and endurance to deal with the emergency will not be lacking.

That is the lesson of Texas City in Texas.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Tumor in the Nose

We do not usually think of tumors in connection with the nose and yet, they may arise here, just as in other parts of the body. As elsewhere, they may be cancerous or benign, that is not deadly. They may arise from blood vessels, from cartilage or from bone. Some are in the nature of a cyst, that is, a membrane sac filled with water.

Many of these tumors may be present for some time before they cause any symptoms. However, sooner or later they will cause blocking of the nasal passages with at times, bleeding and some deformity of the nose. The tumor may grow so that it fills up both sides of the nose and even extends into the sinuses or air spaces connected with the nose.

Before deciding upon the treatment to be used when such a tumor is present the doctor will usually remove a small piece of it and examine it under the microscope to determine what sort of growth it is. The treatment also will depend on the size, the location of the tumor and the age and general condition of the patient.

A tumor that can be easily reached and which is small is easily removed, merely by cutting it off and using the electric current to cauterize the place where the tumor was attached. A large tumor also may be removed by electrocoagulation, that is, destroyed with the electric current.

One of the more serious types of tumors is known as a fibroma and is made up of connective tissue like scar tissue. Such a growth may form quite a large mass not only in the nose but also in the upper part of the throat.

Another type of tumor is known as a hemangioma and is made up of blood vessels. These tumors may affect either the inside or outside of the nose. They often produce a great deal of bleeding and blocking of the nasal passages.

Most of the cancerous-like tumors which occur in the nose extend from the sinuses or from the upper part of the throat. However, now and then one of these growths may start in the nose itself. Many such tumors can be easily eliminated if they are discovered early and treated promptly. The treatment consists either in exposure to X-ray or the use of electrocoagulation.

There are, of course, other causes of blocking of the nasal passages besides tumors. Hence, when this symptom develops it is important that a careful study be made at once by a nose and throat specialist to determine the cause of the trouble. The mere thought that cancer can occur in this location should prevent any delay.

Insurance Men Speak At Luncheon Meeting

E. G. Siefert and Charles E. Sherer were speakers at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Marion Association of Underwriters Thursday at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Siefert, district manager of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co. talked on the life insurance business in Marion. His discussion brought out there is between 55 and 60 million dollars in life insurance in force in Marion county distributed among the various companies and the reserves set up on these policies represents about $12,000,000. This compares favorable with the national picture, he said.

Mr. Sherer, general agent with the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Co. talked on Chartered Life Underwriters, an organization made up of life insurance men. One of the objectives of the local association will be the organization of study groups, it was announced.

Truman Urges Price Cut

...ent Truman has said re... ...s that prices should be cut.

He added at his press conference last Thursday that unless this is done workers will be justified in asking higher wages.

Taft, who received the lion's share of questions from the more than 400 editors and newspaper executives at the 25th anniversary meeting last night, said President Truman "is as likely as not" to sign the final version of union-curbing legislation pending in congress.

"Nor can we say, if a fair bill is worked out between the senate and house, that congress cannot pass it even if the President does veto it," Taft said, referring to the fact that it takes a two-thirds majority in both houses to override a veto.

Master Three-Fourths

The house mustered nearly a three-fourth majority in passing its own bill yesterday.

Taft described the milder senate bill as a 'non-punitive" measure which would 'reduce the power of union leaders so that they do not tyrannize their members and terrorize their employers."

He said he still hopes a ban on industry-wide bargaining which he advocates will be added by amendment from the floor. The labor committee, which Taft heads, turned down this proposal.

Senator Ives (R-NY) however, told the editors that the mediation machinery in the new bill would serve to delay "serious national emergencies like a coal strike" for 80 days.

Eight of the executed prisoners were unidentified Americans. The seven known servicemen listed by Allied headquarters' legal section included Lt. John W. Elliott, of Wooster, O.

BREAK IN SCHOOL STRIKE RANKS SEEN

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 18—A portion of more than 500 striking pupils at suburban North College Hill is scheduled to return to class today even though a mass meeting of students last night failed to agree on an end to the month-old dispute.

James Goldy, student council president, who presided at the meeting of 200 boys and girls, reported "The group was so divided we couldn't even take a vote on whether or not to end the strike. But a lot of us will be back in school tomorrow."

Goldy would not estimate how many pupils would resume their studies today at the struck junior and senior high school where the children left their classrooms March 19 in protest over the board of education's failure to renew the contract of Dr. William A. Cook, superintendent.

Where Good Food and Good People Meet

Beginning At Once—
a new convenience on the C&O
NO TIPPING
of any C&O employee*

WHY should you—the paying customer of the railroads—have to shell out for so many of the ordinary services you need when you travel?

Why shouldn't your rail ticket entitle you to courteous personal service—without extra charge?

The Chesapeake & Ohio does not believe the travelers on its railroad should have to tip—and is taking the first step toward abolishing this nuisance. Beginning at once, you are urgently requested not to tip C&O employees for any of the services they perform.

This means you won't have to leave a tip on the change tray when you eat on a C&O diner. It means you won't have to dig down for change for the porters who serve the coaches on C&O crack trains.

We cannot extend the no-tipping rule to union terminals shared by the C&O with other railroads, since the redcaps in these stations are not on our pay roll. Nor can the no-tipping rule apply on Pullmans, since the porters are employed by the Pullman Company—not by us.

But wherever C & O employees are on hand to serve you, you'll find no outstretched palms—for we'll compensate these employees directly for attending to your needs.

This move to end the tipping nuisance is the latest, but not the last, of many improvements in rail travel offered by the C&O.

*Naturally, this does not apply to Pullman porters, or to redcaps in union terminals, since they are not C&O employees.

SENATOR ACTS ON ROUTE EXTENSION

Liggitt Says Highway Dept. Interested in Plan.

The Marion Chamber of Commerce has been advised by State Senator David A. Liggitt that the state highway department is interested in making a careful study of a proposal to extend route 95 west of LaRue.

In a letter to Louis E. Michel, Chamber secretary, Senator Liggitt said he had been informed by a representative of the highway department that the division engineer of Delaware one and six would make a careful study of the proposal and report their findings to the director of highways.

The route 95 extension is being sought by the Chamber's highway committee and representatives of LaRue, Mt. Victory, Belle Center and Russells point.

State route 95 ends at LaRue and those advocating the extension point out that only an unimproved county road extends westward, causing a bottleneck in westbound traffic.

Problems of Peace Require New Type Newsman, AP Head Says

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 18—Kent Cooper, executive director of The Associated Press, said today a new type of foreign news correspondent has emerged in the readjustment from war to peace.

Describing 1946 as "a year of conferences, negotiations, elections, [illegible] actions, the clash of words, ideas, propagandas," Cooper said the news demanded a reporter of "wide interests and information with a tough-minded integrity in the search for the truth."

Discussing the news of the world Cooper said in his annual report recalled for gifts other than the courage that marked the war correspondent; such gifts as the willingness to study and master complex situations and involved issues; constant watchfulness against being misled by propaganda; eternal vigilance in the struggle for objectivity."

Truman To Speak

Cooper's report was mailed to Associated Press members in advance of their annual meeting in New York next Monday. President Truman will address the annual luncheon of the news cooperative at the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

Cooper said the new type of correspondent was "no less admirable than journalism's war heroes" and added that many of the AP's war correspondents showed the capacity to take new places in the front ranks of the new corps."

"The end of the great war did not mean the end of danger and adventure," Cooper said. "In China, Palestine, India, Greece and other countries, Associated Press men were called on to cover bloody, if undeclared, wars, involving peril and great discomforts. Even in the lands of peace they had to live without the comforts of home.

"Correspondents were called on to know at least the elements of nuclear physics, to be economists, social scientists, historians and above all to keep their minds clear in spite of tremendous pressure always was that menacing cleavage between the east and west, which made the utmost demands on the newsman's tolerance and objectivity.

Censorship Still Problem

"Censorship remained a problem, although its forms varied from those of wartime blue pencil wielder. Other barriers were raised to the free flow of information. One correspondent was kept waiting two months in Italy for a visa to enter Yugoslavia at a time he was badly needed there. Another was the target of an abusive campaign by the controlled press of Poland. Three men sought clearances to enter Romania to report the November election but none received them although application was made three weeks in advance.

"Censorship was not confined to the Russian zone, however; it appeared in India, Spain and other countries."

Cooper said two major struggles dominated most of the year's significant and important news.

He listed them as "first, the struggle for political and economic power in the United States, marked by a wave of strikes early in the year, and climaxed by the recapture of congress by the Republicans; secondly, the international tug-of-war between Soviet Russia and 'the west,' meaning chiefly the U. S. A. against a backdrop of economic and atomic fears."

Cooper said AP news and pictures were used by 3,229 publications and other outlets at the end of 1946. This contrasted with 2,983 at the end of 1945.

TEMPORARY OFFICERS NAMED BY AIR GROUP

Association Headed by George Hildebrand.

Temporary officers were chosen and plans discussed for future activities of the organization at a meeting of the recently organized Army Air Force association Wednesday night in the clubrooms of GI Post, American Legion. The meeting followed the weekly showing of war films which included "Decision," a film designed to give families of veterans buried in foreign countries an idea of the procedure followed in returning the bodies.

George Hildebrand, service officer of the post, was named commander of the association, Wayne B. Osborne, vice president; William C. Brown, secretary; and James C. Sloan, treasurer. George M. Flood, Paul R. Eshman and Willis L. Stewart were named to serve as a council group. Charter members together with the officers are: John Midlam, Francis Cook, Joseph J. Wertheimer, Donald E. Bolander, Robert K. Kull, Richard D. Roux, E. L. Hill, William E. Payette, John W. McMahan, William P. Pash, Paul Price, Donald E. Sims, Jay Maish Jr., Paul E. Moler, James A. Ehrick, Olen M. Hoisington, Willard W. Williams, William C. Heffelfinger and George E. Norris.

Plans were discussed for the purchase of a C-47 to be used for squadron training purposes. The first Thursday of the month was selected as the regular meeting date and it was announced that all members of the Air forces are invited to become members. It was voted to cooperate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in staking an air show here in June.

A large audience witnessed the showing of the films which included "Your Army Today" and "Plan for Peace." The picture, "Decision," was released through the Columbus general depot, American Graves Registration Service and the other two through the local Army Recruiting station.

Members of the local Air Force association joined others in the state at a meeting held last night at Columbus. It was announced that Columbus had been selected for the national convention of the organization in September and that Governor Herbert, the first governor to join the organization, would serve as general chairman.

Scout Night Marked By P.-T.A. at Oakland

Scout night was observed when the Oakland Heights P.-T.A. met Tuesday in the school auditorium. The pledge to the flag was led by Jerry Denton. Devotions were in charge of Marilyn Neville.

The following Scout program was presented: piano solo, Joyce Ann Phelps; Troop 9 with Mrs. Edwin Price, leader, enacted the "Fields of Girl Scouting;" Troop 32, Mrs. Hubert Turner, leader, gave two playlets; Den 1, Mrs. Lowell Pollock, denmother, gave the "History of the Pack;" Den 2, Mrs. Howard Zeigler, denmother, gave a playlet; Den 3, Mrs. Clifford Lumberson, denmother, conducted a "Den Meeting;" and Den 4, Mrs. John Reidel, denmother, gave "How To Become a Cub." William Roberts is cubmaster, Eldon Jones, assistant cubmaster, and Miss Rhea King, chairman of the Girl Scout troop committee.

The group voted to indorse the Daniels-Cramer bill. Mrs. Lowell Pollock and Mrs. Burl Bristoll were named to attend the Delaware conference April 23, and all officers-elect will attend the city-wide installation dinner May 8 at the First Evangelical and Reformed church. A donation of $5 was voted to the cancer fund drive, and Mrs. Thomas Coon announced a paper sale for this week and a rummage sale April 23. Miss Rhea King's room won the traveling picture for having the largest number of parents present.

No Hope in Moscow

THE UNITED STATES delegation in Moscow has torn its diplomatic fingernails on the Kremlin's obstructionism and now is done. The disappointment was devastating.

The only thing that could have surprised American public opinion would be a report that Moscow wanted a German peace treaty.

In fact, it could be said that Gen. Marshall's mission to Moscow was to tell the Kremlin that Washington was tired of appeasement and pussyfooting and ready to talk realities. He was armed up with a practical recommendation for an alliance to Greece and Turkey and evidence that this country accepts responsibility as the only surviving naval power, whereas Great Britain does not.

Mr. Marshall, who was even equipped with evidence that the United States is about to get rid of communists in its official personnel and the absurd notion that a minority of citizens have the right to foment national paralysis.

Progress on the basis of U. S. negotiations with Moscow is no longer a matter of concern. It must be assumed there will be no progress. Until evidence to the contrary is given, Americans will expect nothing from the existing government of Russia but obstruction.

But they know now that their own government intends to meet this obstruction—at least half way. It will do everything within its power to exert its influence unilaterally wherever the Soviet Union is patently trying to expand its own influence. The question is how much lies within the power of the United States. Americans are not going to find security outside their own borders; that dream has been dissolved. They must find it within themselves—within the potentialities of the only remaining free society with resources large enough to change the course of history for the better.

Disaster in Texas

TEXAS CITY, an important sub-capital of the Houston industrial empire, lies in ruins, razed by a chain of explosions which started aboard a ship in the harbor and swept through huge chemical installations on shore. Hard hit by a tornado just a few days ago, Texas faces this new disaster.

Texas City is up one of the fastest-growing districts in the nation. A fine climate, sulphur, petroleum, cotton, sugar, shipping, and magnesium extracted from Gulf waters, plus strong Texas pride, have built the district from a swampy wasteland in less than 25 years.

Texas City is a mass of ruins today, but, Texas being what it is, a new and more impressive city will rise in its place.

He Changes His Mind

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, who before Pearl Harbor was an isolationist, now advocates aiding financially and by force if necessary those "peoples who believe in a way of life basically similar to our own." Specifically mentioning aid to Greece and Turkey, he observes that "in a rocket-atomic age the welfare of other nations is more than important—it is vital to us. There is no better way to attain security, peace and the progress of civilization."

That Lindbergh has come around to a new concept of America's role in world affairs is not surprising. Many have. But what has made his views, whether as an isolationist or as an internationalist, so newsworthy? The fact that a man is a skilled aviator should not make him an authority on world affairs any more than should a film star's indorsement of a presidential candidate mean that as Hollywood goes, so goes the nation.

Free Speech and the A. Y. D.

COLLEGE officials and school boards are requested by the house committee on un-American activities to watch for Communist tactics on the part of American Youth for Democracy. It is "neither American nor democratic in its origin or purposes," the committee said.

This presents a problem to the school official who asks himself: "Shall I give free reign to discussion groups among the students?" If he answers no, he lays himself open to the charge of stifling free speech. If he answers yes, he opens the way for skilled and eloquent Communist parliamentarians to take command, directing discussions along lines they choose and muffling all opposition. Communists are in favor of free speech only as long as they are in the minority.

With these alternatives, the school official should not have to do too much soul-searching to decide youth discussion groups should have supervision to keep them out of the hands of the A.Y.D. Free speech is a relative term. If several bull-voiced comrades, briefed on the latest communiques from Union Square, take charge, speech will be free only for them.

News Behind the News

By D. PAUL MALLON

Public Becomes "Forgotten Man" in Wage Boost.

WASHINGTON, April 18—The company and the union that put a joint statement about a settlement were careful to say it was not final. It was subsidiary, the Senate Rubber case is settled. Without it the "final" would be out of the question, but the final is not a statement for the press.

Quite noticeably the company did not put out any statement that it performed would not mind as a second round of wage increases. Indeed, they say a company official representative informed the president the company did not want to contest it as it did, and would wait to see how the prevailing pattern of general round wage increases for the entire industry—indeed whole may become a pattern of wage increases for all the steel manufacturers in the country—works out.

Next day the United Auto Workers leaders, meeting in a New York hotel, let loose the story that the steel industry had caved altogether and to that place from Detroit, where a caucus had been called to demand even more than the original points. They also had on hand an official statement of what the auto workers would do if they wanted to duck an issue.

Statement Issued

The UAW issued its own statement about the United company with its smaller profits, using some strange figure about the profit per man for the last quarter last year, a figure which had to be corrected later by its press agent. The UAW also charged the company was a monopoly, a common lame duck complaint are actually competent.

But on the peculiar basis on the figure by the difficulty of the union in finding any figure to match up to its purpose. General Motors profits last year were off a half from the previous year. The company would have had to run its dividend rate in half if it had not been for the excess profits tax. In a report to stockholders, the company will the basis of profits, as required by an act of last year, the statement is subject to general scrutiny. The statement says that after pay of the considerable dividends on the preferred stock, the earnings for the common stock were equivalent only to $1.78 per share and that it made $1.28 a share of this amount in income and excess profits tax credits from the federal government. In short the blistered profits last year were 44 cents a share, compared with the normal dividend of 75 cents—75 cents would not bring the old prewar rate before the value of a dollar had been reduced to 50 per cent.

The price of GM common on the New York Exchange has fallen from 66 down to 55.

Company Silence

The silence of the company on the subject of a second round price increase that becomes readily understandable. The board of directors is said to be holding under the hat. That enough, their first quarter statement and the prospective quarter announcements of this year, furnish a basis for a prospective profitable operation of the pattern-company of the nation—or did before this electrical wage increase went into effect. Unless motors can hold the price-wage line, something is going to break loose somewhere. That is financially undeniable.

The undefended public standpoint is that another price increase must aggravate further a price condition already so bad as to be a subject of national discussion. If the GM unions now force up prices higher with such a pattern settlement, it will do its own people the gravest possible damage. If the company agrees to this, it will do destructive and economic damage not alone to its stockholders, but to the entire country.

The question thus arises as to whether a company or a union should have the right to get together in an agreement against the public interest. The matter will be debated in congressional consideration of the labor reform bill. It seems to be a new angle assuming greater current importance than the more familiar phases of the debate.

Mississippi's Loss Is The Nation's Gain

Indications now are that Mississippi's Senator Bilbo will draw $10,000 salary without attending a single legislative session.

And even money well spent will be, too.

Bilbo recently underwent what he described as an operation to enlarge his mouth. Unfortunately modern surgery has yet to perform a similar operation for the brain.

So far as I can determine, the only person in congress to miss Bilbo thus far are Republicans, who use to have him around to embarrass the Democrats.

Of course, his absence from the senate is unfair to Mississippi, especially since so many of his constituents vote for him just to get him out of the state.

The Man's prolonged absence from his post revives an old query if anything—can be list as "Earned Income"?

One has only to reflect a moment to realize that Bilbo on absentia is a bargain at $10,000 a year. With newsprint selling at $90 a ton, we'll be saved more than his salary in The Congressional Record alone.

Polish Miners Draw $40 Monthly

By The Associated Press

WARSAW—The wages of Poland's coal miners now are averaging around 10,000 zlotys per month ($100), says the newspaper Glos Ludu.

Miners actually receive in cash 30 to 40 per cent of their total earnings. The remainder is made up through employers paying social insurance, holiday expenses for miners, social welfare and health service rates.

WASHINGTON, April 16—It is time for the state department to release the personal correspondence after Yalta between Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. This is positively demanded by the tragi-comic foreign parade of Henry A. Wallace, whose attempt to shroud himself in Roosevelt's mantle resembles nothing so much as Milton Berle playing "Hamlet" in the robes of Edwin Booth. If the department continues perversely debating the disposition of these vital papers (as it has been doing for over a year) there is a possibility that the senate foreign relations committee will request publication. The plain truth is that Wallace and his little group of touts are guilty of gross although probably not conscious falsehood in their representation of the Roosevelt foreign policy. Appeasement of the Soviet Union characterized Roosevelt's foreign policy, as it did that of Winston Churchill, until victory in the war was clearly in sight. The real reason for this appeasement was the implied threat, supporting every Soviet demand made during the war, of a separate peace with Nazi Germany. With the precedent of the Hitler-Stalin pact before their eyes, the American and British leaders could not ignore this danger. They said as much, in the clearest language, to their staffs.

Turning Point

By the time of the Yalta conference, however, the hour of victory was not far off. And these precious but unpublished communications exchanged between Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, which give the sole surviving documentary evidence of Roosevelt's true frame of mind, are known to suggest that Yalta was a major turning point for Roosevelt. Their evidence points to the conclusion that at Yalta he had made his last concessions. Their evidence suggests further that he meant to insist to the end upon Stalin's keeping his Yalta promise of eventual independence for the whole area of Eastern Europe—Poland, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria—which has now been absorbed into the Soviet empire.

Roosevelt realized, of course, that the Kremlin had a right to ask for friendly governments in eastern Europe. So do the state department and the foreign office. Harry S. Truman and Clement Attlee today. But he was determined that these governments should be genuinely independent. And he was outraged by the evidence of bad faith given immediately after Yalta, when Vishinsky was sent to Romania to establish the puppet Groza regime in open violation of the Soviet Yalta commitments. From that time on, the tone of his correspondence with Stalin took on an increasing acerbity. He spoke most strongly of all in what is believed to be the last state paper on which he finished work before his death. This was the draft of a stern personal message to Stalin on the question of the Polish government. This draft was communicated to Winston Churchill, who described it as "weighty and eloquent" when he associated himself with the president's sentiments. Other messages from Roosevelt to Churchill mention with bitterness "the disillusion" he had experienced, implying that this "disillusion" demanded reconsideration of the whole problem of relations with the Soviets. The whole body of documents plainly proves that Roosevelt had none of the woolliness Wallace so impertinently and unjustly attributes to him.

Truman Speaks Firmly

After Roosevelt's death, Truman briefly attempted to carry on where his predecessor left off. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin had fallen into the habit of settling the world's affairs between themselves, in a personal way that has partly given rise to the state department's reluctance to publish the papers. Thus Truman was not enlightened as to the inwardness of his predecessor's policy until after he took office, at a solemn meeting with Harry L. Hopkins and the secretaries of state, war and navy. The immediate result of that meeting was the brutal gesture on the Polish question with which Truman received Molotov, when the Soviet foreign minister stopped off in Washington on his way to San Francisco.

Unhappily, events soon disclosed that Truman could not afford to alter the American line as radically as Roosevelt might have done. Thus the resumption of Roosevelt's effort to be firm with the Soviets had to wait for many months. When the effort was resumed, it was instantly hailed as a "break" with the Roosevelt policy. But it was nothing of the sort. Roosevelt would no doubt have been forced to break, if not approve, accomplished facts in Poland and elsewhere, as Truman has done. Roosevelt would no more have fought a rupture with the Soviets than Truman has. But all the evidence suggests that he would have made approximately the moves Truman has made, and made them rather sooner. In the White House inner circle before his death, "Lend Lease for Peace" had ever become a watchword; and by this was meant precisely the sort of thing that Truman is now doing in Greece and Turkey. It is time for these facts to be known, if only for their effect in Britain and France.

Wallace Not An Originator

Publication of the facts will be the best official answer to Henry A. Wallace. Meanwhile, in judging of Wallace's whirling-dervish performance, there are certain other facts that the British should take into account. One such is the background of the preparation of Wallace's speeches.

Wallace rarely produces ideas or expressions of his own; they are fed into him. And in this case, although it will of course be denied, the ideas come from two Englishmen, Richard Crossman and Kingsley Martin, while the drafting has largely been done by the amiable but confused angel of the "New Republic," Michael Straight. Crossman is a leader of the labor party revolt against Ernest Bevin's foreign policy, and Kingsley Martin, as editor of the "New Statesman" is the rebels' journalistic cheering section. Henry Wallace's queerest trait is his willingness, almost amounting to eagerness, to be used by other men. And in this case, the evidence suggests that Crossman and Martin are merely using Wallace, whose shallowness Crossman at least is far too intelligent not to grasp, for their own peculiar purposes. One of these purposes, ardently shared by the Kremlin, is to divide Britain from the United States.

The Railroad Rate Boost Plea

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON — When OPA died the corner grocery adjusted its selling prices to meet higher operating costs.

But "price control" in the transportation industry is no wartime, emergency matter. The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has been functioning since 1887 in control of the price of transportation, and its authority in this matter was made air-tight by a 1906 Congressional amendment to the act which created the commission.

So the eastern railroads—60 of them—are before ICC saying in effect that they are in the same position as the corner grocery as far as pyramiding operating costs are concerned, that they are taking substantial losses on their passenger business and will continue to have such losses unless ICC permits an increase of about 10 per cent in fares.

("Eastern railroads" are those operating roughly north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and east of the Mississippi.)

The railroads are presenting the further argument that they are now called upon to provide more service to fewer customers, through "luxury" equipment designed to meet the tastes of the 1947 traveler, who was willing enough to forego comforts with a war going on but who now thinks of something "super" when he puts his dough on the line for a pleasure or business trip.

Peak Long Past

The peak of wartime travel has long since passed. New York Central Railroad—the second largest passenger carrier in the country—told the commission its 1946 passenger service revenues dropped $30,000,000 under 1945—"but the expense of providing that service increased nearly $6,000,000."

The ICC last adjusted basic railroad passenger fares in 1942. At that time, the fares went up from two to 2.2 cents per mile for coach travel and from three to 3.3 cents per mile for Pullman travel.

The eastern railroads are now asking for authority to make the coach rate 2.5 cents per mile and the Pullman rate 3.5 cents per mile, with a 15 per cent increase in the coach round-trip rate and a four per cent increase in the Pullman roundtrip rate.

In addition the lines are asking for upward revisions in short-haul commutation fares.

Others Affected

There are plenty of interested watchers on the sidelines of the proceedings. Presumably, whatever ICC does for the eastern lines it will be willing to do for railroads operating in other parts of the country. Current statistics indicate that all the carriers have the same problems of higher operating expenses and a smaller volume of travel.

The other lines are saying nothing just now. Ditto for the motor bus companies, but eastern railroad witnesses before the commission testified they believed the bus lines would also have to move their fares upward "because the motor bus industry finds itself in the same position as the rail carriers."

The nation's airlines received 10 per cent passenger fare increases last month from the Civil Aeronautics Board, the "price control" authority in that field.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

With Apologies to Mr. Hood

I remember, I remember
The little palace booth where
I once could talk to Galveston,
Saint Cloud or Bellaire—
The fairy little two-piece door—
The nut I could spin—
And get a number in Detroit
Chicago, Boise or Lynn.

I remember, I remember
When I could get Fort Lee—
And get it without any need
Of an emergency.
When I could talk to Townsville,
Salt Lake or Horses Head
Without a word of being sick
Or thought of being dead!

I remember, I remember
When phone books seemed a boon
And use of one was bound to mean
A little action soon—
When I could put receiver to
My ear from simple motive
Whenever I was so inclined—
And hear a human voice!

I remember, I remember
The tinkle of a bell
That often sounded on my phone
And made no pockets yell;
The rush to take to some one dear—
And at the tongue run loose—
Without a thought on either end
Of reason to excuse!

I remember I remember
The feeling in the air
That when I giggled any book
A "Central" would be there—
A patient and helpful lass
Who'd do things in her swing
And not be toting banners with
A "Down with" anything!

I remember, I remember
The day when I would take
Receiver off the hook so none
My little hop would break
When I at home would welcome and
No outside call allow
When I would give to get a call
From anybody NOW!

CAN YOU REMEMBER

Any time when you could keep a co[nversation] again?

Portrait

Henry Wallace, there he goes,
All through Europe on OUR toes;
Leering at the U.S.A.,
Weeping for the Kremlin way,
See him spike the President—
Watch him on disruption bent—
Note him at our arms deride
Where so many brave men died

It is our bet that when Secretary Marshall returns from Moscow he will be under the impression he never left China.

President Truman threw out the first ball opening the 1947 baseball season. It seems to us that he still lacks speed or a genuine curve, but shows a fair change of pace.

What this country needs most is a good healthy respect for its laws, customs and institutions.

'Round the World

By TRUMAN TWILL

It's good to know that a geezer named Magellan or something or other has flown around the world in less time than the previous record holder, a geezer named Howard something or other. Peace is now upon us.

Strange things happen under the blanket sections of peace. Geezers fly around the world for the publicity that's in it. Other geezers think that's dandy. There are freaks, stunts, free soda pop and a good time for all.

Someone will swim the English Channel in the near future. This will be done to the accompaniment of sound movies, a flotilla of rescue launchers and an overhead fleet of press planes bearing bright-eyed newspaper reporters defending freedom of the press and eating ham sandwiches furnished by the press agent.

This is the year when hog-calling contests may be expected to come back with a bellow you can hear all the way to Fox Run. Get braces for photographs of the winner, who will be a native of Arkansas—never took a lesson in his life. A husband-calling contest will be run off for the ladies—"Ellllmerr!"

Flagpole-sitting started back last summer when a man and a woman were married on top of a flagpole. This summer a woman will have a baby on top of a flagpole and a prying reporter will be expelled from the Fish & Pool Club for going aloft in a blimp to watch.

Rocking-chair contests will reappear. The favorite to win will be a 67-year-old lady weighing 143 pounds from Kenosha, Wis. She will rock for 83 consecutive days without stopping except for 15 minutes every two hours and her picture will be in the glossy magazines.

There will be marathon dances. Young men and women will sink a notch or two below waltzing mice and whirl 'round and 'round until they drop. Physicians will certify solemnly that all of them are gaining weight and are in fine condition.

A man will ride a horse from the Washington Monument to the main gates of a movie studio and be fussed over in 239 wayside hamlets where he will make a beeline to the nearest newspaper for a little story about his endurance.

An unemployed dancer will fall into the hands of a press agent and do some fancy steps on the edge of a building that will look incredibly high in the freak angle photos taken by ingenious cameramen. Someone will go on a hunger strike. A baseball team will quit shaving to stop a batting slump. A quartet of idle airmen with nothing better to do will rig up a special plane to set a new record for continuous hours in the air.

A student in the University of California will eat a live smelt and, not to be outdone, a Yale man will swallow an eel. Human flies will swarm over three-story buildings in small towns on Saturday night, motorcycle clubs will scale incredible distances on weekend jaunts, someone will go over Niagara Falls in a plastic barrel, a professor will go up in a special balloon and another one will go down under the sea in a special submarine.

Peace is wonderful.

Russian Plan To Halter Greek Aid Hits UN Snag

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 18—The Russian plan to impose United Nations supervision over American aid to Greece ran into new opposition today as the security council neared its first test vote on President Truman's $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program.

French Delegate Alexandre Parodi said France could not support the Soviet proposal for a special security council commission to watch over use of American funds in Greece unless the U. S. government agreed to it.

Parodi was followed by Brazilian Delegate Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, who said he fully supported the American aid program and added that nations could help each other in maintaining order without "interference" from the UN.

A majority of the 11 council delegates already had expressed opposition to the Soviet proposal and support of a U. S. counter-proposal.

Vans Needed To Move Kleptomaniac's Haul

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 18—Moving vans made four trips to haul away department store goods stolen, police said, by "Cleveland's Queen of Kleptomaniacs."

Arresting the woman on a larceny charge, police found such loot as clothing, hardware, medical supplies, cosmetics, jewelry, silverware, linen, purses, picture frames, pens and pencils — anything that could be carried away.

Overwhelmed by the sorting job, police didn't bother to question the 56-year-old woman's husband when he protested, "That's mine." They merely handed over the item and resumed stuffing the material in basket baskets.

Steel Workers Make 23-Cent Wage Demand

PITTSBURGH, April 18—The first definite wage increase demand coming from CIO United Steel Workers' contract negotiations was disclosed today—a 23-cent hourly boost asked of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

A spokesman for the firm described the 23-cent figure as an "over-all" one, as besides a flat pay increase it includes "a lot of other things." Holiday pay provisions presumably were among them.

The pay demand conceivably could set an industry-wide pattern.

NEPHEW'S MURDER LAID TO COLUMBUS RESIDENT

Charge Faces Man Who Says He Killed Infant with Hoe.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 18 — A 32-year-old father was to be arraigned today on first degree murder charges after telling a detective he rammed a shower hose down the throat of his year-old nephew and turned on the water.

Detective Sgt. Carl Clifton quoted Thomas M. Craft as saying: "I lost my head * * * when the baby refused to eat his noon meal Wednesday and "threw food around the table."

Craft carried the baby, Stephen Killeen, to the bathroom, started to wash his face, then jammed the hose down the infant's throat, Clifton said the accused man related Craft's wife and their seven-months-old twins and three-year-old daughter remained at the table. Stephen's mother, a sister of Mrs. Craft, was at work in a department store.

Craft, a native of Taylor, Tex., and a paratroop veteran of the European campaign, said in the statement he "had payments to make on the house and was worried over money."

A petition bearing 12 names was submitted to Nolan. Among those testifying were Rowland, T. F. Herman, Earl W. Wagner, H. C. Hamilton and Harold Boice.

Greek Aid Called Dare To Russian Invasion

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 18—Senator Revercomb (R-WVA) said today the United States may be inviting—rather than repelling—a Russian invasion of Greece and Turkey by extending military and financial assistance to those two countries.

Revercomb took the floor to open the senate's eighth day of debate on the $400,000,000 aid measure after Senator Hatch (D-NM) voiced belief in an interview that $100,000,000 in American help will put Turkey so firmly on its feet that it can stand unaided against threats of Communism after July 1, 1948.

SCHOOL BILL WILL BE CUT, HERBERT SAYS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 18—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert believes the Daniels-Cramer school foundation bill will be reduced by the house to the $80,000,000 a year figure he recommended for state aid to schools in his budget message March 12.

After a conference with leaders of both houses of the legislature yesterday afternoon, the governor declared:

"I think the present rates as in the Daniels-Cramer bill in the house will be slightly reduced in order to bring it down to $80,000,000 a year or in that neighborhood."

The Daniels-Cramer school bill originally called for state expenditure of about $100,000,000 a year to aid local school districts. Before the measure reached the house, earlier this month, the senate reduced the amount to about $88,000,000 a year. The bill is now under consideration by the house education committee.

Unless the house reduces the senate-amended bill's cost by approximately $8,000,000 a year, the governor declared that plans to increase teachers' salaries by $6,000,000 next month for the current school year would have to be abondoned.

The governor denied reports that he had abandoned some of his suggestion for local government financing, including authority for municipalities to impose consumers' utility taxes after sharing in some $25,000,000 annual state revenues.

House Acts This Week Called Education in Congress at Work

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 17—Before the house gallery this week education in congress has been debating its bill to restrict unions ed to [illegible] union[illegible] the Re[illegible] with some have votes [illegible] it with [illegible] on-ave work [illegible]sses de[illegible]ng part in them, a handful of the 453 members are on the floor at one time.

James Marlow

This week they pretty well jammed the floor, sitting all afternoon listening or arguing.

Debate Bitter, Sarcastic

Much of the debate has been bitter, tart, sarcastic. And it's been shot through with politics.

Most of the time congressmen try to be polite to one another but a woman this week startled them with one of the most frank statements about another member heard in the place for years.

This was when Mrs. Mary Norton, New Jersey Democrat, cut loose on Fred A. Hartley Jr., a Republican congressman from her state.

Mrs. Norton had been chairman for 10 years of the house labor committee. This year Hartley became chairman and she quit the committee.

It was Hartley's committee which put together the labor bill for the house to vote on. Mrs. Norton is against the bill.

Attend Only Six Times

Asked on the floor why she quit the committee, Mrs. Norton said she did so because she has no respect for Hartley and that in 10 years on the committee, while she was chairman, he had attended only six meetings.

Hartley replied by reading a letter in which AFL President William Green asked New Jersey unions to support him for reelection as "an outstanding friend of labor."

Rep. Leo Allen, Republican from Illinois, made a speech for the bill and pulled politics right into his talk.

He said the Republicans in the house were going to vote for the bill because in last November's election campaign they promised they'd come up with a labor bill. He blasted the Democrats.

Then an 81-year-old Democrat from Allen's own state—Rep. Adolph Sabath, the oldest congressman in length of service—jumped up.

"Vicious and Restrictive"

He called the bill the most "vicious and restrictive" ever brought before the house.

Then he said the Republicans are trying to "strip labor of all organizations rights, while ignoring the collusive organizations of industry and business."

Sabath had hardly sat down, and it was a long attack on the Republicans he made, when one of the top Republicans took the floor.

This was Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, floor leader of the Republicans. He said the bill was the kind of bill "overwhelmingly demanded by the people of this country."

Right behind Halleck came Rep. Arthur Rep. Arthur Klein, a New York Democrat and a member of the labor committee. Klein and five other Democrats on the committee not only voted against the bill in committee but condemned it.

Said Klein:

"As a member of the committee on labor I can say that we have not adequately studied this problem of labor-management relations."

He said the bill was actually written by members of some of the biggest businessmen's associations in the country.

All this—it took a great deal of time—was just a warm-up. This kind of talk continued but eventually the house members got down to examining the bill itself.

Marion Student Wins Letter Writing Contest

Larry S. Ralston of Marion, a freshman in the College of Business Administration at the University of Cincinnati, won second prize in the university class in business English "Hotel Letter Writing" contest held recently. The contest was conducted by Mrs. L. W. Pathe, instructor in the business administration college. The three winners and Mrs. Pathe were entertained following the judging by Max Schulman general manager of the Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati.

Mr. Ralston is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Ralston of 284 North State street.

Contestants numbered more than 150. Each submitted a letter, presumably from Mr. Schulman, addressed to a mythical "Mr. Martin," stating why the hotel was unable to accommodate him at the time he requested.

Three classes participated in the contest and Mr. Ralston placed first in his class, and second in all three. A veteran of 52 months' service with the U. S. Army Air Corps, he served as a cryptographer on an aircraft repair ship with 14 months in the Pacific. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity at the university, and is home now on a few days vacation, having completed final exams.

Mrs. Mounts Hostess To Prospect Society

Mrs. Harry V. Mounts of East Center street was hostess for a meeting of the Missionary society of the Baptist church at Prospect Tuesday night. Mrs. Wilbur Sivey was elected president, Mrs. Harold Click, vice president, Mrs. John Griffith secretary, Mrs. Harold Thomas, treasurer. Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Archie Cochran and Mrs. A. O. Long were named on the program committee. For the program hour Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blankenship presented the Life of Christ in flannelgraph. Prayer was by Rev. A. O. Long. Spring flowers and lighted candles decorated the table arranged for refreshments.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Paul E. Lauer, Mrs. Bertha Penry, Mrs. Willis Thomas and Mrs. Paul Kyle.

Questionnaire To Aid in Planning Pre-Marital Course

A questionnaire directed to recently married couples, as a preliminary to setting up a pre-marital course for engaged couples here, has been put in the mail, Rev. Eldred Johnston reported. The questions on the list sent out are in regard to problems of the home and adjustment to married life which the proposed marriage course will discuss. The classes will be sponsored by the Marion County Council of Churches, of which Rev. Johnston is president, and the Y.M.C.A. of which E. N. Hale is executive secretary, and will be held at the Y.

Couples receiving the questionnaire are to check a list of nine subjects, marking four which make the appeal of seeming most important, to make any further suggestion as to subjects for consideration, and to indicate by a "yes" or "no" answer interest in attending such a course as the one suggested. The classes are proposed for four successive Monday nights. Prop Busters Club Plans June 15 Event

At a meeting of the Marion Prop Busters club Tuesday night at the home of William Tompes on Franklin street, plans were discussed to have a model plane exhibit at the dedication services of the Baker Airport to be held June 15. Persons who are not members of the club are eligible to display planes and prizes will be awarded by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Nine first place awards will be given.

Plans were also discussed for an open contest to be held by the club in September for all classes of models. This will be backed by the Y's Men's club, which sponsors the club.

Activities of the club last Sunday included testing models for the contest to be held this Sunday at the Robert Blank farm on the Barks road. During the test, two models were lost. The flying time for one, until it disappeared, was six minutes and five seconds, and the flying time for the other was five minutes plus. This contest is for original design hand launch gliders and speed models only. Prizes will be drafting boards. The contest is not restricted to club members and anyone may participate.

Just look what prizes! For women only! Get your entries in!

Because this amazing new-type lard is super-superior, Swift has given it a New Name to be announced soon. Don't you think it's a good idea? If you do, just complete the jingle below and enter this great Prize Contest.

YES! I'D LIKE A SPECIAL NAME TO CALL THIS FINER SHORTENING BY. SWIFT'S BLAND LARD OUTPERFORMS THEM ALL

(Fill in this line, to rhyme with "by". For example: "No praise can be too High.")

TO HELP YOU WIN

First, read these sensational facts about Swift's Bland Lard. They explain why we have decided to give this remarkable shortening a new name that really does it justice. And they'll help you get ideas for a good last line to the jingle.

TASTELESS, ODORLESS. Special refining methods make this creamy new-type lard completely bland.

CREAMS EASILY. Yes, this lard makes grand cakes. It's tasteless, odorless, and creamable.

DEEP-FRIES WITHOUT SMOKING. The smoke point of Swift's Bland Lard is even higher than that of costliest shortenings.

NEEDS NO REFRIGERATION. A patented Swift process keeps this amazing lard fresh at room temperature. It's always easy to work with.

MAKES EXTRA FLAKY PIECRUST. Scientific tests prove that pastry made with Swift's Bland Lard is extra flaky.

NUTRITIOUS! DIGESTIBLE! No other shortening is more digestible than Swift's Bland Lard. And it contains two vital nutritional elements in superior quantity to shortenings of other types.

Now, read the jingle carefully and start thinking about a last line. Your line should rhyme with the word "by". For example: "No praise can be too high"; or "For perfect cakes and pie". It's a good idea to make a list of words that rhyme with "by". And it's easy—there are lots of rhyming words.

FOR MORE CONTEST TIPS —tune in Don McNeill's Breakfast Club, Monday mornings.

Here's your chance for the adventure of a lifetime . . . a trip around the world by air! All expenses paid and a thousand dollars spending money to boot! Four glamorous weeks . . . you'll visit Honolulu, Hong Kong, India. See famous battlefields of the war. Stop off in Brussels, Paris, London. And to make it absolutely perfect, this is a trip for two. Your husband, daughter, or best friend can share it all with you. Or, if you prefer to go alone, you get the trip plus $5,000 cash! Or you can take the full cash equivalent instead of the trip—$10,000 in a lump sum!

And that's not all. There are over a thousand additional prizes, including two brand new Ford sedans.

So you see this is a contest you just must enter. An easy contest, for women only. Clip the rules—enter now.

Missing Radio And Shotgun Recovered

A table model radio and a 12-gauge shotgun, missing from the farm residence of John Isler of northeast of Prospect since yesterday, were recovered today in the residence of a Marion county junk dealer

Sheriff's officers said they were looking for the dealer in an attempt to learn how the articles came into his possession.

The radio was taken from the kitchen and the shotgun from the back porch of the Isler home yesterday while the family was away Neighbors told sheriff's officers a truck had been picking up old wire and junk in the community, which led the authorities to trace the missing articles to the dealer's home

BEVIN SURVIVES BRITISH SHAKEUP

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 18 — Ernest Bevin, long under fire from within his own Labor party, survived a British cabinet shakeup last night and today seemed still firmly entrenched in the ministry of foreign affairs.

Prime Minister Attlee changed his ministers for India and Germany minister of pensions, postmaster general and lord privy seal and added a minister without portfolio, enlarging the cabinet from 20 to 21 members.

But he kept Bevin as foreign secretary, and a high government source said this development constituted endorsement of Bevin's foreign policy, admittedly tied to that of the United States. The developments apparently killed speculation that Bevin would be replaced because of criticism from upward of 100 labor members critical of that policy.

The prime minister increased Bevin's responsibilities by making the control office for Germany and Austria answerable to him rather than to the war office

Attlee also retained Herbert Morrison as deputy prime minister for planning economic recovery in the face of reports from sources close to the government that he had been considering putting Bevin over Morrison as a "super planner" one union to handle the products of another

(The senate bill procedure on such strikes and boycotts is to make them unfair labor practices This means the national labor relations board could obtain an injunction when a union failed to obey an order to drop the practice)

2 Ban industry-wide bargaining, but not company-wide agreements, in nearly all cases

3 Rule out mass picketing and violence in picketing

4 Authorize expulsion of Communists from union membership Unions could not be recognized for bargaining purposes if any officer is, ever has been or could "reasonably be regarded' as a Communist or a sympathizer

Prohibits Check-Off

5 Prohibit the involuntary check-off system of collecting union dues—that is, employer deduction of dues without the workers written consent.

6 Outlaw health and welfare funds administered solely by unions.

7 Prohibit any federal employe from striking or encouraging a strike under penalty of losing his job and all his civil service rights

Taft served notice he will attempt on the senate floor to restore four provisions knocked out of the committee bill by a group led by senators Ives (R-NY) and Morse (R-Ore). They are:

A flat ban on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts

A restriction on industry-wide bargaining which would forbid any national union to dictate contract terms to its locals This would apply, for example, to John L Lewis' United Mine Workers.

A ban on union-administered health and welfare funds

Making it an unfair labor practice for unions to coerce or interfere with workers in the exercise of their collective bargaining rights

EXPLOSION

woman I was with, she had just disappeared"

The throngs that crowded the temporary morgue that ordinarily serves as a high school gymnasium viewed the dead with mixed reaction The mutilated bodies lay in rows, covered with drab army blankets.

Some pulled back the blankets to look for identifying marks

'He got through the war and wasn't hurt. He's got a wife and baby," sobbed Emil Stark, 20-year-old machinist as he left the morgue He had identified his 26-year-old brother, Ernest who had worked at Monsanto

Nurses Stand By

Nurses stood by with ammonia to administer aid to the grief stricken.

The probing for bodies continued through twisted wreckage Tired rescue workers used torches to cut through piles of heavy steel in the industrial section of the town

The improvised morgue was a common gathering place for relatives and friends. Lined up outside, they entered the building a few at a time, to pass before some 200 bodies of embalmed dead The parade of townspeople attempting to identify the dead continued almost without end.

All visitors were barred from the town, with Gov. Jester's state of emergency proclamation in full effect.

After Wednesday night's exodus of citizens—who fled the threat of chlorine and other gases, as well as fire and explosions—the road back was crowded yesterday. An estimated 6,000 returned to the city, jamming traffic at noon in the downtown area

Waterfront in Ruins

The waterfront was mute testimony of the magnitude of the series of blasts that shattered the town.

The initial explosion, aboard the Grandcamp, the nearby Monsanto Chemical Co's bayside plant, and the explosion of the High Flyer left the dock area charred ruins.

Associated Press Reporter Hal Boyle named atom-bombed Nagasaki, Japan, as the only comparison to the ruin of the scene

Deputy Mayor J. H Hill attributed the reported presence of ammunition aboard the High Flyer as a striking cause to her destruction.

"We couldn't get any tug crews to remove her," he said "If we had gotten the tugs, she could have been moved out of the danger area."

From the explosion of the Grandcamp, at 9:12 a. m. Wednesday, through a series of short-spaced blasts that razed the chemical company, oil storage tanks, and other buildings, tragedy overlapped.

Offers of aid poured in from every section of the country, with army, navy, coast guard, federal agencies, individuals augmenting state aid

Doctors Arrive

Nurses and doctors, blood plasma and other medical facilities streamed into the town.

At Dallas an appeal for blood donors brought long lines to Baylor hospital. Within a few hours, 300 pints had been packed.

Under terms of Gov Jester's state of emergency, the Red Cross was designated as the disaster relief agency It was empowered to receive all funds and other assistance offered

Jester emphasized that "civil authority would prevail" in the area, though the 49th Battalion of the Texas State Guard was ordered to active duty in the town.

Col Homer Garrison, director of the state department of public safety, was installed as senior law enforcement officer in Texas City.

Roads leading into the town were ordered blocked to all save those on official business and holders of department of safety passes.

President William E Umstattd's announcement said the company proposed an extension of its union contract, expiring April 22, to July 1, 1947, with the pay increase effective between those dates.

405 ENTRIES MADE IN LITTLE GRAND CIRCUIT STAKE RACES HERE JULY 1-19

Nominations for 16 Events Set Marion Track Record

This year's Little Grand Circuit meeting at the fairgrounds was the biggest in prospect before the races were established. Dates are July 1-19 with no racing on Sundays July 6 and 13.

Frank Foster, president of the Marion Driving association, announced today that entry blanks for the 16 stake races have been issued with a total of 405 entries scheduled, a total of 28 per race.

Total purses for the stake races will exceed $30,000, of which there will be approximately eight per night, swelling the total to $70,000.

Dozen County Owners

Marion county will be represented by more than a dozen owners. Horses are entered from nine other states including Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Indiana, Georgia, Alabama, New York, Tennessee and Illinois.

Entries from Wabash, Newark, Columbus, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon, Bellefontaine, Mansfield, Ashland, Sandusky and Kenwood are booked from this area in addition to locally owned horses.

The dates for the meet have been moved up from their former run of from June 17 to July 5 because of conflict with the Toledo Grand Circuit races. Entries will come to Marion directly from that meet and another at Troy.

285 Last Year

Last year 285 entries were booked for what had been up till then, the biggest entry list in the history of the meet.

As in former years, the meet will be held for the benefit of the Women's board of City hospital.

Extensive improvements on both the track and the grounds are planned and Foster predicted that both would be in the best condition possible.

Para-mutuel betting machines will be in operation at the races with $2, $5 and $10 tickets expected to be sold.

Entries in the stake races follow. Owners and their home towns are listed immediately after the name of the entry.

No Brains, Just Pencil Needed To Be Sports Writer, Happy Chandler Tells Veeck Diners

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 18 — The baseball writers today took a second look at several fast ones tossed in their direction by Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler.

Before the nickname tagged on him during his political days, the former Kentucky senator last night utilized a Cleveland baseball writers dinner honoring Indians President Bill Veeck to throw some Sunday punches at the writers who have criticized his actions since he took office 23 months ago.

"I have respect for some of these baseball writers," Chandler declared. "But I've learned that you don't need to know anything to write. You just need a pencil, paper and the time. But they must learn that they can't make my decisions for me.

"They point out what a great man Judge Landis was. He wasist. But, unlike the sports writers, I am no table to commune with Judge Landis to determine what he would have done. I make my own decisions.

"During the last two years, I haveeen doing some catching," the commissioner observed. "That is all right. If a fellow can't take it, he shouldn't dish it out. And I can do both.

"I disavow owing anybody in baseball anything except the obligation to see that the game is properly run. It makes no difference to me if my contract is not renewed. I've never been without a job.

"It's hard to hit major league pitching at first but I'm catching on. And until I call the play, remember it's nothing."

Chandler did not specifically mention Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers whom he suspended for one year, but did remark:

"One writer says I should have given him only a month; another says he deserved 99 years."

Red-Hot Slugfest on WMRN Tonight

Julio Jimenez (above), a fiery lightweight who hails from down south of the border, and Philadelphia's sharpshooting Eddie Giosa headline the fistic fiesta in New York tonight. ABC network will air this ten-round fracas with Bill Corum and Don Dunphy at the microphones.

Since he came to New York, the moustachioed Mexican mixer has been galloping upgrade in the lightweight mitt parade. He has won 13 of his 14 starts in the East—and reversed the one defeat. Julio is primarily a left hooker.

The Quaker City mauler also has been riding an upward spiral against high caliber opposition. Giosa's a rip-and-tear, bull-like fighter who likes to pump leather with both hands. The beak-busting industry looks forward to a rough night.

Club Speaker Points To Many Advantages of Life in U.S.A.

"You're living on top of the world," Marion Kiwanians and their wives were told Thursday night by Prof. H. B. Comstock of the speech department of Capital university, Columbus, at a ladies night party in the ballroom of Hotel Harding.

His statement was intended to apply not only to the ladies present but to the entire population of the nation. Speaking on the subject, "Men and Women," he talked up the "top of the world" statement by asserting that advantages and conveniences we have for enjoyment are unknown to that percentage of the world's population.

He was followed a program that included solos by the St. Mary parochial school singers, directed by Miss Mary Jermann, accompanied by the members. The group of 30 girls sang eight numbers including two with by Margaret Ann Ammerman and Margaret Cooper. Two of the numbers were a reprise.

Professor Comstock declared that 40 per cent of the world's population can't read or write—61 out of each 100 persons on the earth have never had any schooling.

World Income Low

One of the obstacles to progress in many areas of the earth is the lack of purchasing power, for incomes are pitifully low in India, he declared, mentioning of many average $46 a year—a family whose men say $8 a week a day. He contrasted these and other economic figures with those of this country in which a laborer can earn enough in 6 months to buy an automobile—an accomplishment which might take seven lifetimes elsewhere in the world.

Five years, which most of us have for granted, is almost impossible in prized in some parts of the world, yet in this country, with wider selling in mind rules of approximately 4 cents a lb., between 5 and 7 cents a lb., of pure cane sugar, I could buy a pound a day for a year would cost a person a substantial part of his income in some parts of the world.

"Free will" he continued, "which we try dearly, is not available to most people—many regard it as a luxury only the wealthy."

Interspersing his factual statements with a nonsensical series of humorous remarks, Professor Comstock covered a long list of accusations and prejudices enjoyed by residents of the United States, and in summing up the progress of the last century, declared:

"In terms of progress, I'm farther from my grandpa than grandpa was from Adam."

Points to Advantages

He backed up this statement by pointing out the strides made in many fields of science and industry. He told how life expectancy has been virtually doubled since the Revolutionary day, and how new developments concerning sewage control of disease already have hope of redoubling the average life span. He quoted a medical authority as saying that elimination of more few diseases would result in a life expectancy of around 125.

Some of his comments in contrast conditions in this country with those found elsewhere included:

Most people in the world die before 40 because of lack of food, shelter and clothing—many of them never have the equivalent of what we would call a square meal.

Most people earn barely enough to provide food, clothing and shelter for themselves.

In most countries, women are not regarded the equal of men. Millions of women feel they have little or no hope of Heaven, regarding Heaven as a place reserved for men.

Introduction was given by Robert Williams. J. D. Torrance announced arrangements for members and wives to attend a Grange dinner June 19. The program features were introduced by Hugh Hay who with C. E. Jennings, Kelly R. Vance, William Coffee and Sol Freed made up the committee in charge of arrangements. Contest prizes were distributed by Bourbon Dodd and Jack Weis. Guests were Mrs. F. L. Hoover of Harrisburg, Pa., V. R. McCoy, Bertram Freed and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Byrd. John Cleveland, president, made brief opening remarks.

CLUB WILL PRESENT CHURCH AWARDS

"March To Church in March" Contest Concluded

The Marion Kiwanis club will present certificates of award to the three Marion churches declared winners in the recent "March To Church in March" attendance campaign. The contest extended through the months of March and worshippers were counted at each service and reported to the church committee of the Kiwanis club, sponsors of the contest.

Each Sunday's attendance was compared with the corresponding Sunday in the previous month and the percentage of increase was recorded. According to the weekly reports submitted to the general committee the Wesley Methodist church, under the leadership of Rev. H. M. Umbach made the best showing and will be awarded the first recognition for having the highest percentage of increase in average attendance during the contest. Dr. C. O. Kuntzel, chairman of the Kiwanis church committee will make the presentation at the morning worship service Sunday. The Emanuel Lutheran church, with Rev. M. F. Heckerman pastor, reported the largest aggregate attendance in March and will be presented an award on Sunday morning by E. L. Cleveland, president of the Kiwanis club. The award for having the largest attendance at a single service during March will be presented Sunday morning to Epworth Methodist church, Dr. V. E. Bauer, pastor, by J. D. Torrance, Kiwanis secretary. Attendance at worship each Sunday was reported by the members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Harding hotel and a tabulation showed that an average of more than 40 per cent of the members were regular in church attendance.

The Church Committee was composed of Dr. G. O. Kuntzel, John Clark, J. B. Holloway, Robert O'Donnell, A. C. May and L. M. Baker.

Marionites On Air from Quito

Instructions Given for Tuning in Dr. Hershey and Rev. Lewis.

When Dr. C. E. Hershey and Rev. Marvin Lewis, who is the latter at a tour of Latin American countries in the interest of Youth for Christ, make a stop at Quito, Ecuador next week, they will speak over a Quito radio station. The broadcast from station HCJB, can be heard here over short wave. Marion radio operators say. The program will be in English, and will be on the air three times, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Instructions for getting best broadcasts on radios equipped with short wave were been prepared by D. A. Evans of the Summit street man stated. To those persons interested in listening in Dr. C. E. Hershey and Rev. Marvin Lewis when they speak from HCJB, in Quito, the following information will help.

HCJB is a short wave station operating in the 16, 19 and 31 meter bands so a radio covering either of all of the above bands will be necessary. Many radios have two bands — one tuning the standard broadcast band here in the U. S. and the other tuning some short wave band. The name of the latter will be designated on the dial as either "meters" or "megacycles" abbreviated M and MC respectively. If the dial reads in "meters" tune carefully in the vicinity of 19, 31 or 16 from 5 p. m. till midnight as the programs for these three hours are in English. Announcements are made every fifteen minutes and the entire program is piped broadcasting so it will really be identified among other nations in the same vicinity. When you locate the station mark its location on the dial.

The station operating in the 24 meter band is heard on North America and is the most dependable for U. S. reception. However, it may be that either of the other two bands could be received better in some locations.

Dr. Hershey and Rev. Lewis will be on the air April 20, 21, and 22 probably between 8 and 10 p. m. EST and at all three stations of HCJB carry the program simultaneously it may be heard on the band best received in your location. HCJB also transmits programs in English from 7 to 9 a. m. and 5 to 6 p. m. EST.

If your radio dial is marked in megacycles (MC) the station locations are approximately 49 MC —12.5 MC and 15.5 MC. Tune very carefully and have patience.

Dr. Hershey, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church here, is director of the Marion Youth for Christ. Rev. Lewis has been, until recently, a director.

Elks Plan Initiation And Sea Food Dinner

Initiation of a class of candidates next Thursday night will be preceded by a sea food dinner at 6:30 p. m., it was planned at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 99, B. P. O. Elks, Thursday night. Admission to the dinner will be a paid-up membership card. Several applications were balloted on and plans discussed for attending the spring conference at Canton April 25, 26 and 27. A lodge of sorrow was held for the late A. W. Bryant, a charter member of the lodge.

WORKER TURNOVER IN FACTORIES LOWER

Employment turnover rates in the Marion area are on the decrease, according to Fred B. Schertz, manager of the Marion office of the Ohio State Employment service—bureau of unemployment compensation.

Turnover rates decreased considerably during February from the December figure, Mr. Schertz said. He said it was the opinion of employers of the area that the decrease is the result of increased stress placed on employes being present every day they are scheduled to work, with the exception of absence caused by illness, in order to hold their jobs.

Mr. Schertz said he believed employers realize there is a surplus of workers and are attempting to perform their work with greater care. He also stated he felt employers were more exacting in choosing their workers than formerly.

Turnover rates of 36 employes in Marion county, reporting to the employment office, indicated separations to reach 100 workers was all increased with 5.8 last August. Employment for each 100 workers also was up compared with 6.5 last August.

Workers now seeking employment through the facilities of the Marion employment office, numbered 661 on April 1, Mr. Schertz reported. At present, he said, there is a surplus of workers, some orders for workers now are difficult to fill because of the lack of qualified persons with certain skills. There is no shortage of occupations in the Marion area, however, to handicap production, Mr. Schertz said.

About 16,000 families in the U. S. own television sets.

SLOW-GOING MARKET ON IRREGULAR ROUTE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 18—A slow-going stock market today milled over a narrowly irregular route as generally bullish news inspiration was lacking.

Hopes for improved labor situations and belief the list was due for further technical recovery brought a little professional bidding.

Occasional gainers included Chrysler, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber (in response to oversubscription of the company's new $40,000,000 debentures), Montgomery Ward, American Tobacco "B," Pacific Western Oil, International Harvester, Du Pont, Anaconda, American Can and Standard Oil (NJ). Intermittent losers were General Motors, Goodyear, American Telephone, Schenley (at a new 1947 low), American Woolen, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Westinghouse Electric, Kennecott, Sears Roebuck and Johns-Manville.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MY father smiled at the puzzled face of the elderly physician—

"No, Dr Twitchell," he said "I know you are not a plastic surgeon

"But," he went on, "I also know that you have a wide acquaintance in the medical profession What I wish to ask of you is this"

He leaned toward the old physician, and spoke emphatically

"I want you to find me a plastic surgeon, not too young and not too old—there will be hardships involved in this mission — who would be willing to join an expedition, ostensibly an ordinary diplomatic one He will not be listed under his own name He will pose as the medical officer of the expedition But when he gets to his destination, we shall try to give him a chance to see these mysterious men and discover, if he can, just where the plastic surgery disguise leaves off and the real features begin Can you find me such a man?"

"How long will I have to think it over?" the old physician asked

"About half an hour," my father replied "Then I can give you another two hours to contact the man, explain the situation to him, get his consent, and have him get to Washington two days from now, ready to start on the journey"

Smiled Ironically

Dr Twitchell smiled ironically, but he was not at all flurried

"It's a large order," he said, "but I think I can fill it I know a lad, returned frm the war and completely fed up with civilian life and the conditions he finds in this post war world

"He has no family ties," Dr Twitchell went on, "and—what I suppose will interest you most—he is an exceedingly able citizen in his line, and generally"

"He sounds made-to-order," my father said "Now let me tell you a little bit more about the expedition, and then, Dr Twitchell, if you can get to work immediately after that"

"If you don't mind a slight interruption," Dr. Twitchell said, "I can begin a bit of spade work right away"

Wants Explanation

"Explain, please," my father said tersely

"I can get this chap on the telephone before he leaves his office and ask him to meet me for something most important right away But where?"

My father considered a second

"Of course he's absolutely secret-proof, or you wouldn't recommend him," he said "So ask him to let you come to his office If he refuses the proposition, go on to your second choice, if you have one"

"He won't refuse," Dr Twitchell said "He'll leap at the bait"

"Then, if he accepts," my father said, "bring him down to the hideaway at once Gus will admit you if I'm not there, and I will be back there in two hours at the longest. Then we can talk things over"

Will Telephone Now

"I'll telephone him now," the old physician said, but as he walked to the telephone my father spoke again

"Dr Twitchell!" he called, and the physician turned inquiringly

"Don't make your appointment with him right away," my father said "How long will it take you to get over to his office?"

"About twenty minutes"

"Then make your appointment an hour from now," my father said. "I want you to hear more about this before you see your friend"

"That will suit me perfectly," Dr Twitchell said, and turned to the telephone
